'Overture' Benefit Held with Great Success

Moorestown School of Music held this year's Overture Benefit reception for families and friends of the school. The benefit was graciously hosted by Anne Baiada. Guests were entertained with musical performances by both faculty members and students. Thanks to the help of Chesca Mayser, committee chair, Laura Aberant, Jill DiBiase, Claire McHugh, and Monica Nick; Overture, created an elegant opportunity to bring together parents, board members and music enthusiasts of our community.

The first Overture in March 2002 celebrated the school's receipt of its IRS determination that the Moorestown School of Music qualified as a 501(c)(3) Not-for-Profit entity. The Overture benefit has been held each March since. Overture provides funds for both scholarships and for the School's programs.

Moorestown School of Music's mission is "to plant the seeds of musical growth by creating a nurturing community of parents, teachers and students." Located at 301 Union Street in Moorestown, the school serves more than 70 families with Suzuki method lessons for cello, violin and piano. Moorestown School of Music also hosts the Music Together™ preschool program that serves an additional 90 families, and the Walden School Musicianship Course, a creative theory course for ages 8-18. These programs implement the school's philosophy that a joyful, positive environment creates exceptional abilities in individuals of all ages and backgrounds, thus enhancing the community at large.
